Modus Operandi Shift, Evolving Toward HoldCo → OpCo Model

Simplifying segment reporting & business lines for better transparency, performance measurement and valuation unlock

Why Change?

Business-Line Reporting

- Historical reporting structure was built around parenting model (Customer Facing Unit/Functional Unit).
- Limited visibility into end-to-end economics by customer segment as well as product categories (many overlaps).
- Asset utilization and profitability attribution were fragmented across operational units.
- Difficult to evaluate ROI and capital allocation effectiveness for each project.
- Hard to measure true "value-added" activities given layers of inter-company engagement.
- Hard to showcase TLKM's scale of business & assets.

"Fragmented & Overlapping"

TLKM30 TRANSFORMATION

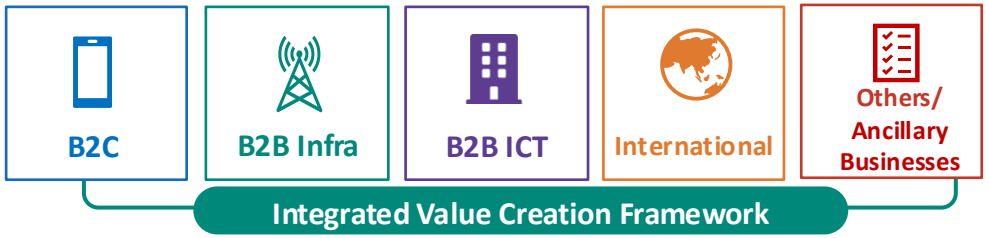

- Delayering
- Improving visibility on financial performance (esp: cost structure)
- No more overlapping products/services by OpCos
- Future-ready governance
- Streamlining to focus on core

Current State

Segment-Led Reporting & Management

- Reporting aligned with strategic growth engines and value creation priorities.
- Improved transparency of profitability, cash generation, and invested capital by segment.
- Clear delineation of "what OpCos are doing what business". No more cannibalization and overlapping activities.
- Enables more accurate evaluation of infra modernization and technology lifecycle.
- Supports long-term portfolio optimization and strategic decision-making.

"Integrated & Focused"

KEY MESSAGE

- The transformation is not merely a financial reporting exercise, but a foundational shift toward a HoldCo – Opco model designed to support TLKM30 execution.
- A lean parent structure and elimination of overlapping businesses, making the subsidiaries healthier and more competitive.
- Business development based on core competencies and capabilities aligned with the specific needs of each business.

- 9M26 Revenue increased 3.5% YoY to Rp 113.5tn, supported by 7.7% growth in Telkomsel's Mobile Digital Business. Mobile monetization improved, with average mobile ARPU in 9M26 rising by 7.1% YoY to Rp 45.4k and data yield increasing in the same period by 6.5% to Rp 3.08/MB.
  - These gains partly offset by continued declines in Telkomsel Mobile Legacy Services (-41.3% YoY) as usage shifts to OTT platforms, and lower IndiHome revenue (-3.0% YoY) following customer base rationalization.
- Consolidated EBITDA increased 2.0% YoY to Rp 55.5tn, while EBITDA margin declined 73bps to 48.9%. Higher O&M, G&A, marketing and interconnection expenses outweighed lower personnel costs, with operating expenses growing faster than revenue.
  - After excluding specified advisory expenses, normalized EBITDA reached Rp 55.7tn, up 2.4% YoY, with a margin of 49.1%.
- Reported net income declined 3.9% YoY to Rp 14.4tn, against the restated 9M25 comparative of Rp 15.0tn, with net margin declining 98bps to 12.7%.
  - After adjusting for specified depreciation, investment-valuation, tax, advisory and divestment-related items, normalized net income reached Rp 16.5tn, up 3.9% YoY, with normalized margin improving approximately 6bps to 14.6%.

- Higher borrowings drove the YTD increase. Debt excluding leases rose Rp 4.7tn to Rp 55.5tn, partly offset by a Rp 0.6tn reduction in lease liabilities. Total debt nevertheless declined 2.3% QoQ, reflecting net repayments during 3Q26.
- The repayment profile became more concentrated in current obligations. Current debt increased 14.2% YTD to Rp 34.6tn, comprising Rp 28.9tn of borrowings and Rp 5.7tn of leases. Its share of total debt increased to 43.7%, from 40.4%, making refinancing and maturity management increasingly relevant.
- Rupiah funding limits direct debt-related FX exposure. Approximately 99.3% of debt was Rupiah-denominated. Corporate bonds of Rp 2.7tn mature in June 2030 and June 2045; near-term obligations therefore relate primarily to bank borrowings and leases.

9M26 Revenue Based on Business Segments

B2C led growth, while B2B Infra expansion was driven mainly by inter-segment infrastructure services

- B2C - External revenue increased 3.5% YoY to Rp 81.6tn, driven by 9.0% growth in Data, Internet & IT Services to Rp 57.2tn. Higher mobile ARPU and data yield outweighed continued legacy erosion, including a 48.2% decline in cellular voice revenue. IndiHome revenue declined 3.0% to Rp19.1tn, reflecting the smaller customer base following cleansing. 3Q26 revenue increased 0.9% YoY but declined 3.2% QoQ, as softer customer activity, spending pressure and tactical competition moderated mobile monetization.
- B2B Infra - External revenue grew 5.5% YoY to Rp 7.1tn, supported by higher data-center colocation, connectivity and infrastructure leasing revenue, partly offset by lower interconnection revenue. Singapore customer ramp-ups and new recurring billing at Cikarang supported data-center growth. Total segment revenue increased 11.2% to Rp 46.6tn, with intersegment services contributing approximately 92% of the increase; these are eliminated on consolidation. External growth strengthened in 3Q26 to 6.8% YoY and 4.8% QoQ.
- B2B ICT – External revenue increased 3.1% YoY to Rp 11.2tn, as SME connectivity and managed-service growth offset weaker legacy services and selected ICT portfolios. SME revenue rose 10.1% to Rp 3.3tn, supported by 10.9% growth in IndiBiz subscribers to 771.7k. Managed-service and terminal revenue contributed an additional Rp65bn, while selected businesses faced project churn, delivery delays and more selective contract acceptance. 3Q26 revenue grew 12.4% YoY but declined 7.3% QoQ, highlighting continued quarterly variability.
- International - International - External revenue increased 5.8% YoY to Rp 8.9tn, driven primarily by international leased-line and connectivity services. Network revenue increased 50.2% to Rp 1.37tn, contributing Rp 459bn, or approximately 94% of incremental external revenue. Higher messaging revenue largely offset declining voice hubbing, keeping interconnection revenue broadly stable at Rp 5.8tn, down 0.6%. Lower associated voice-hubbing costs limited the earnings impact. 3Q26 external revenue increased 22.5% YoY and 6.7% QoQ.
- Others/Ancillary –External revenue declined 1.1% YoY to Rp 4.8tn, reflecting the absence of Rp 544bn of prior-year e-health revenue following AdMedika's divestment, completed in June 2026. E-payment revenue increased 26.8% to Rp 1.6tn, contributing Rp334bn of additional revenue, while higher data and digital-service revenue provided a further Rp129bn offset. 3Q26 revenue declined 21.9% YoY and 11.8% QoQ, despite the nine-month growth in payment services.

9M26 Business Lines Revenue – Led by Data Services, with Softer 3Q Momentum

Data, Internet & IT Service revenues

- Revenue grew 8.3% YoY to Rp 71.5tn in 9M26, lifting revenue contribution to ~63% from ~60% and offsetting the declines across other business lines. The revenue growth was mainly contributed by TSEL's resilient data usage (+1.6% YoY) in 9M26 and stronger data yield +6.5% YoY.
- On a quarterly basis, Data, Internet & IT Service revenues declined by 4.8% QoQ to Rp 23.4tn, reflecting seasonally softer TSEL customer activity, with Mobile ARPU moderating to Rp 44.9k, down 2.4% QoQ, and revenue recognition adjustments in the Enterprise business.

IndiHome revenue

- Revenue declined 3.0% YoY to Rp 19.1tn in 9M26, reflecting the smaller customer base following subscriber cleansing.
- 3Q26 revenue declined 1.4% QoQ to Rp 6.3tn, as the lower post-cleansing average subscriber base continued to affect revenue. Ending subscribers recovered 1.2% QoQ to 9.6mn, while reported ARPU increased 3.2% to approximately Rp 218k, partly reflecting the cleansing effect on the subscriber denominator.

Interconnection revenues

- Revenue declined 5.4% YoY to Rp 6.7tn, reflecting lower voice-hubbing revenue as communication shifts toward digital platforms.
- On a quarterly basis, revenue has stabilized at around Rp 2.2-2.3tn since 1Q26, with 3Q26 up 2.1% QoQ to Rp2.3tn, as international voice hubbing volumes steadied against a lower base

SMS, Fixed and Cellular Voice revenues

- Consolidated legacy revenue declined 20.7% YoY to Rp 5.3tn in 9M26, as cellular voice fell 46.7% with continued migration to data-based communication and fixed line declined 9.4%.
- On a quarterly basis, SMS, Fixed, and Cellular Voice revenues declined by 3.2% QoQ to Rp 1.9tn, due to seasonality in Q2 (lower prepaid activation revenue & postpaid voice revenue).

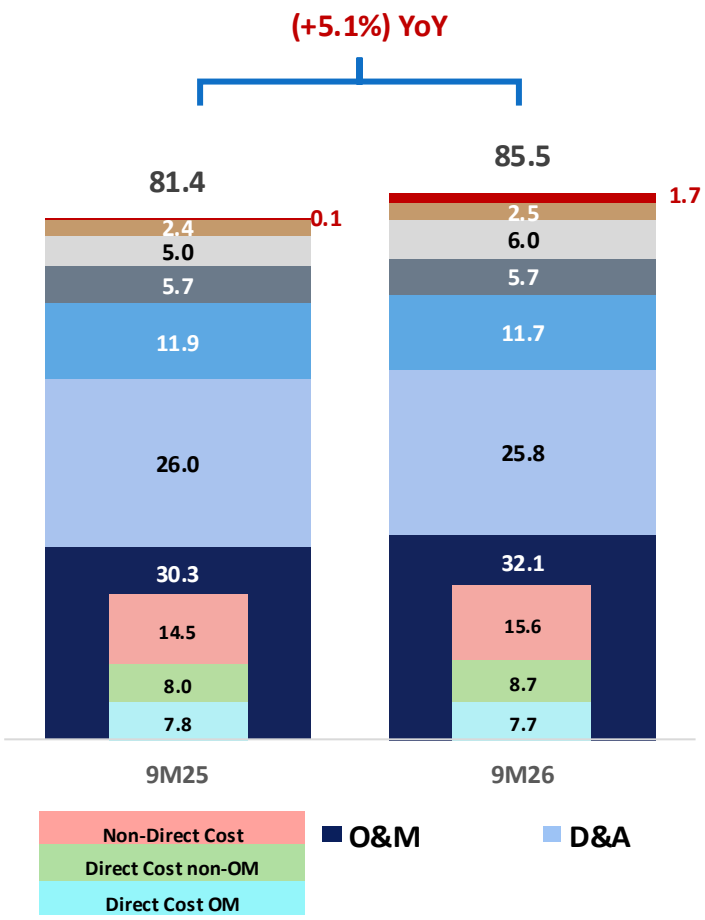

Network and Other Telcos service revenues

- Revenue grew 7.8% YoY to Rp 10.8tn in 9M26, driven by higher IPLC, wholesale network, tower leasing, and e-payment revenue, partially offset by the absence of e-health revenue following Admedika divestment.
- 3Q26 revenue increased 6.0% QoQ to Rp 3.8tn, driven by higher leased line and IPLC revenue as well as growth in tower leasing and e-payment services.

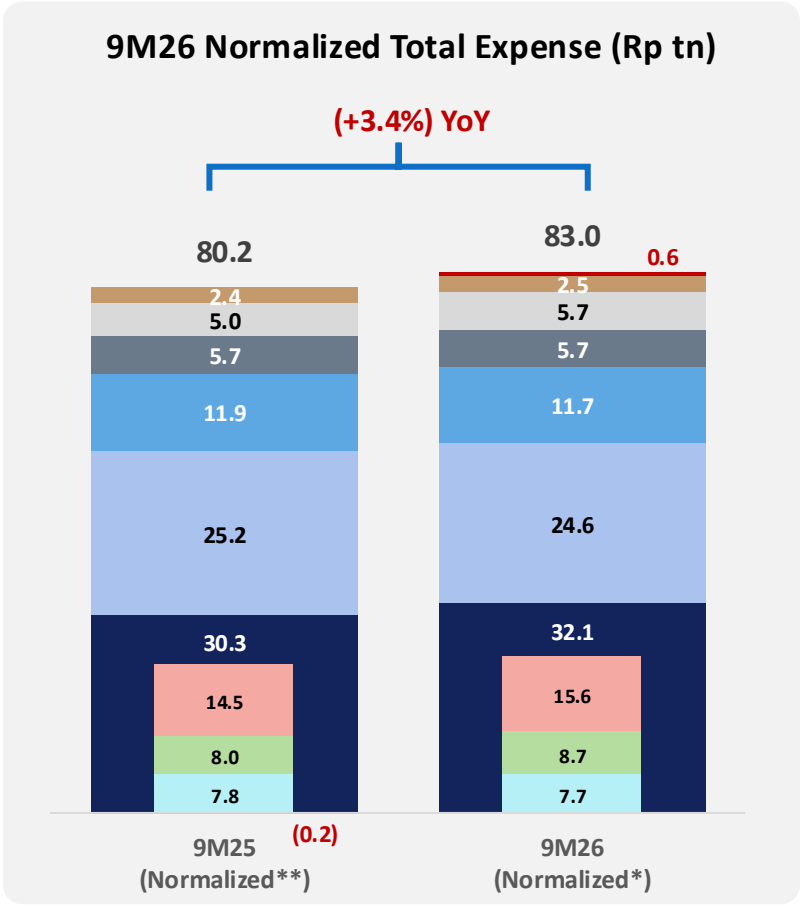

9M26 Expense Breakdown (1/4)

Operating expenses increased 5.0% YoY to Rp 58.0tn, led by higher O&M (Rp 1.8tn) and G&A (Rp 1.0tn), including increased receivables provisions and professional fees, partly offset by lower personnel costs. Investment valuation losses lifted total expense growth to 5.1%, despite lower depreciation. Normalized expenses increased 3.4%.

9M26 Expense Breakdown (2/4)

Operation, Maintenance & Telco Services (O&M) expenses

- O&M expenses increased 6.0% YoY to Rp 32.1tn. Revenue-linked VAS and payment-service costs increased, respectively, alongside higher network maintenance, spectrum charges and concession/USO fees. Part of the increase therefore accompanied digital-service growth, while network and regulatory costs added pressure as O&M grew faster than consolidated revenue.
- In 3Q26, expenses increased 2.3% QoQ to Rp 10.6tn, reflecting higher spectrum fees following additional allocations and higher equipment-related costs, partly offset by lower digital ecosystem costs. These increases coincided with softer revenue, contributing to quarterly EBITDA margin compression.

Personnel expenses

- Personnel expenses declined 1.9% YoY to Rp 11.7tn, supported by lower net severance charges and base-salary expenses, partly offset by higher employee income-tax allowances. The savings therefore included changes in benefit charges and compensation mix, alongside workforce-related efficiencies.
- Quarterly expenses increased 7.3% to Rp 4.0tn, concentrated in employee income-tax allowances and pension costs, partly offset by lower bonuses. This movement is distinct from ERP cash settlements in early 2026, which related to charges recognized in 4Q25.

Interconnection expenses

- Interconnection expenses increased 1.4% YoY to Rp 5.7tn, reflecting higher international messaging costs, partly offset by lower voice-hubbing expenses. The voice-hubbing reduction broadly tracked declining associated revenue, limiting its benefit to earnings.
- Quarterly expenses declined 0.8% to Rp 2.0tn, as lower international messaging and cellular interconnection costs outweighed higher voice-hubbing costs. The movement primarily reflected wholesale traffic and service mix; related revenue should be assessed alongside the cost change.

General & Administrative (G&A) expenses

- G&A expenses increased 19.1% YoY to Rp 6.0tn, principally reflecting higher receivables provisions (+Rp 483bn) and professional fees (Rp 220bn). Telkomsel identified provisioning pressure in mobile and IndiHome receivables, while professional fees included legal and corporate-action advisory engagements. Receivables provisions remain included in normalized earnings, as they represent credit costs associated with the business.
- Quarterly expenses increased 9.0% to Rp 2.3tn, reflecting higher advisory and social-contribution expenses, partly offset by lower director bonuses. Only specified advisory engagements are normalized; recurring professional fees remain in normalized earnings.

9M26 Expense Breakdown (3/4)

Marketing expenses

- Marketing expenses increased 6.9% YoY to Rp 2.5tn, driven by higher sales-force fees and sales commissions. Lower advertising, promotion and customer-education expenses provided offsets. Telkomsel also attributed higher marketing charges partly to acquisition-cost amortization following IndiHome customer cleansing, rather than solely additional commercial spending.
- Quarterly expenses declined 25.9% to Rp 0.8tn, reflecting lower sales-force fees, advertising and commissions, together with the higher prior-quarter acquisition-cost adjustment base. The decline therefore combines lower spending and accounting timing effects, with marketing falling to 2.1% of quarterly revenue broadly in line with softer commercial activity.

Depreciation & Amortization (D&A) expenses

- D&A declined 0.9% YoY to Rp 25.8tn, despite Rp 1.17tn of specified additional depreciation from revised useful-life estimates. The restated comparative included Rp 771bn of accelerated depreciation; lower depreciation charges elsewhere outweighed the higher specified adjustment in 2026.
- Quarterly D&A increased 0.7% to Rp 8.6tn. The useful-life revisions continue to affect future depreciation and are therefore not confined to a single reporting period.

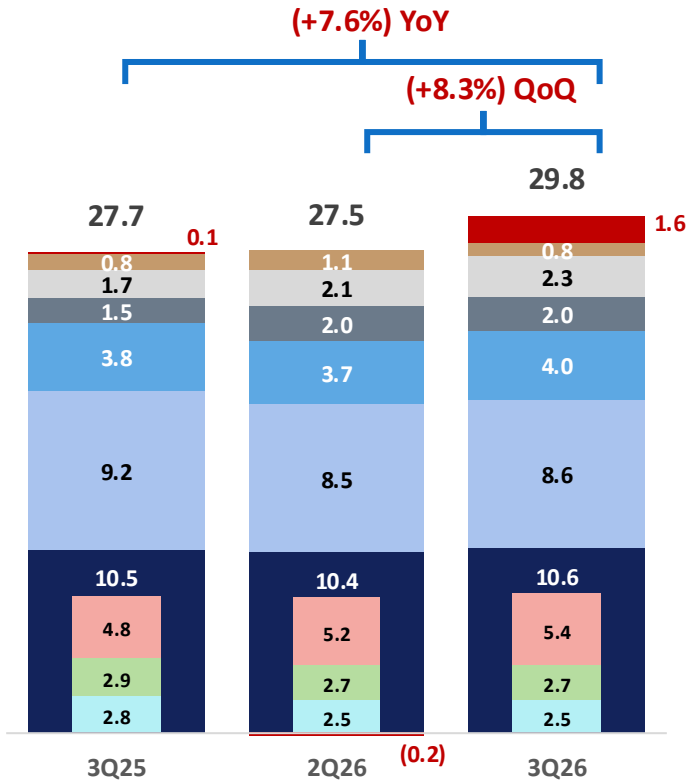

Other Expense (Income) – net

- Net other expenses reached Rp 1.7tn, comprising Rp 1.66tn of investment valuation losses—Rp 759bn from GoTo and Rp 904bn from other investments—plus Rp 347bn of other net expenses, partly offset by Rp 292bn of FX gains. Valuation losses affected reported earnings without an equivalent current-period cash outflow.
- In 3Q26, net other expenses reached approximately Rp 1.59tn, versus Rp 215bn of net other income in 2Q26, reflecting larger valuation losses, the absence of the prior quarter's Rp 550bn pre-tax AdMedika gain, and lower FX gains.

3Q26 Expense Breakdown (4/4)

Expenses rose 7.6% YoY and 8.3% QoQ, with the sequential increase mainly driven by investment valuation losses. Operating expenses increased 7.0% YoY and 2.1% QoQ, as higher O&M, personnel and G&A costs outweighed lower marketing expenses. Normalized expenses still increased 1.3% QoQ, against a 2.8% revenue decline, indicating continued margin pressure.

Normalized Net Income 9M26 (Rp tn)

Note: Net Income refers to profit attributable to owners of the parent. 9M25 normalized net income of Rp 15.9tn excludes accelerated depreciation (Rp 771bn), the GoTo mark to market loss (Rp 380bn) and fair value gains on other investments (Rp 19bn), net of tax and NCI. Figures may not sum due to rounding.

- 9M26 Normalized net income rose 3.9% YoY to Rp 16.5tn, supported by revenue growth and lower finance costs despite operating margin pressure. Reported earnings fell 3.9% to Rp 14.4tn, as higher tax and profit attributable to NCI outweighed modest pre-tax profit growth.
- Investment valuation losses totaled Rp 1.7tn before tax, comprising Rp 759bn from GoTo (share price decline from Rp 64 at end 2025 to Rp 32 at end Sept 2026) and approximately Rp 904bn from other investments fair value losses, mainly MDI Ventures. After tax and NCI, the normalization excludes Rp 1.2tn unrealized investment losses.
- Revised asset useful lives generated Rp 1.2tn of additional depreciation before tax. Total D&A nevertheless declined 0.9% YoY against the restated comparative. The adjustment is non-cash, but the revised depreciation profile continues to affect future earnings.
- AdMedika's disposal generated a Rp 550bn pre-tax gain. The Rp 429bn after-tax gain was excluded from normalized earnings.
- Transformation advisory cost of Rp 220bn (pretax) refers to specified advisory engagements: legal consultancy fees for SEC related investigations (Rp 107bn) and corporate actions (Rp 113bn). The timing and amount will depend on execution requirements. Recurring advisory costs remain included in reported earnings.
- Tax adjustments reduced normalized net income by a net Rp 108bn, comprising Rp 288bn of tax impact on the depreciation (Rp 244bn) and advisory cost (Rp 44bn) adjustments, exclude the Rp 180bn deferred-tax charge arising from the fiber asset transfer. This reflects the different tax rates applied at the HoldCo and TIF, at 19% and 22%, respectively.

- Operating Cash Flow declined 3.2% YoY to Rp 48.0tn in 9M26, mainly due to higher cash payments for operating expenses, reflected in lower accounts payable and accruals, alongside employee payments related to the Early Retirement Program (ERP) in 1Q26, which had been expensed in 4Q25. On a quarterly basis, operating cash flow declined 25.2% QoQ to Rp 13.1tn.
- Investing Cash Flow recorded a 10.1% YoY reduction in net outflows to Rp 16.7tn, mainly driven by lower capex payments and proceeds from the divestment of AdMedika and Telkomedika. Sequentially, investing cash outflows increased 2.2% QoQ to Rp 5.8tn, reflecting relatively stable investment spending compared to the previous quarter.
- Financing Cash Flow recorded a 3.5% YoY reduction in net outflows to Rp 32.5tn, supported by higher net borrowing despite lower gross loan proceeds, partly offset by share buyback-related cash outflows. On a quarterly basis, financing activities recorded a net outflow of Rp 28.2tn in 3Q26 versus a net inflow of Rp 4.7tn in 2Q26, primarily reflecting dividend payments of approximately Rp 22tn in July 2026 and debt financing movements.

- TTM OCF declined 4.6% YoY to Rp 62.2tn, mainly reflecting higher operating expense payments of approximately Rp 2.2tn and employee payments of Rp 1.6tn, including vendor settlements and early retirement program (ERP) payments.
- TTM cash capex declined 9.4% YoY to Rp 24.3tn, primarily driven by lower property and equipment purchases, partly offsetting weaker operating cash generation.
- Net borrowing remained positive at Rp 1.9tn, compared to Rp 3.8tn previously, as lower loan proceeds outweighed reduced debt repayments, resulting in a smaller financing contribution..
- TTM FCFF declined 2.7% YoY to Rp 41.6tn, as lower capex and finance costs only partially offset weaker operating cash flow.
- TTM FCFE declined 5.7% YoY to Rp 39.9tn before lease principal repayments. After approximately Rp8.0tn in lease repayments, Rp 31.8tn remained before shareholder distributions and other investing requirements.

9M26 Growth Supported by Customer Value and Cost Discipline

Focus on stabilizing mobile activity, improving fixed broadband operating quality, and maintaining investment discipline

1. Mobile monetization improved YoY, despite softer 3Q26 activity
   - Mobile revenue increased 3.5% YoY to Rp 63.8tn, supported by higher ARPU (+7.1% to Rp 45.4k) and data yield (+6.5% to Rp 3.08/MB), despite a smaller subscriber base. In 3Q26, mobile revenue declined 3.1% QoQ and ARPU fell 2.4% to Rp 44.9k, reflecting softer spending and tactical competition, while payload remained resilient (+0.8% QoQ).
   - Priorities remain customer retention, relevant higher-value packages and targeted customer value management, balancing monetization with affordability and competitive conditions.

2. Fixed broadband subscribers rebuild, revenue recovery remains pending
   - IndiHome subscribers increased 1.2% QoQ to 9.6mn, while ARPU improved 3.2% to Rp 217.7k partly reflecting customer-cleansing effects. Revenue nevertheless declined 1.4% QoQ to Rp 6.3tn, reflecting the lower average subscriber base. Converged customers increased 11.9% YoY to 6.28mn, reaching 65.2% penetration, supported by customer growth and a smaller IndiHome denominator.

3. Lower infrastructure costs support efficiency, despite provisioning pressure
   - Operating expenses excluding depreciation and other items declined 0.8% YoY and 0.5% QoQ. Lower quarterly marketing and G&A spending partly offset higher network costs associated with additional spectrum.
   - Higher receivables provisions for mobile and IndiHome contributed to the 9.9% YoY increase in cost of services. Some quarterly expense reductions also reflect higher prior-quarter accruals and one-off adjustments.
   - Operating cash flow increased 15.2% YoY to Rp 32.1tn. Network and spectrum deployment remain guided by traffic demand, service requirements and return visibility.

4. Nine-month profitability improved, with quarterly earnings weaken
   - EBITDA increased 5.1% YoY to Rp 38.3tn, with margin expanding 1.4ppt to 46.3%. Reported net income grew 2.2% to Rp 14.6tn, while GoTo-adjusted net income increased 4.7% to Rp 15.4tn.
   - In 3Q26, EBITDA declined 5.3% QoQ to Rp 12.3tn, with margin moderating to 45.0% as revenue declined faster than operating expenses.
   - Reported quarterly net income declined 19.8% to Rp 4.2tn. Excluding GoTo fair-value movements, net income declined 12.1% to Rp 4.7tn, indicating earnings pressure beyond investment valuation changes.
